DESIGN CLAESSON KOIVISTO RUNE
ARTIFORT, NETHERLANDS

Designed by Swedish architecture and design studio Claesson Koivisto Rune, the Andrea seating collection was inspired by the idea that every space should encourage creativity, comfort and productivity. Echoing the form of a blooming flower, the Andrea chair presents a sculptural silhouette that is equally appealing from every angle.

The designers sought to create a chair with a soft, rounded and contemporary expression, carefully proportioned to provide both an inviting appearance and exceptional comfort. A defining feature of the design is the way the slender legs extend seamlessly between the upholstered elements, creating a distinctive visual detail while allowing for creative combinations of upholstery fabrics and frame finishes.

The Andrea dining and meeting chair features integrated armrests for enhanced comfort and support, making it well suited to both residential and commercial interiors. The collection also includes a coordinating barstool, offering the same refined aesthetic and ergonomic design across a range of applications.
