DESIGN ADAM CORNISH
CANTARUTTI ASH TIMBER FINISHES, ITALY

Slender and delicate shapes outline the silhouette of an everyday object, simplified to the essentials. Shapes and materials enhance the structure of this seating family, born from the collaboration between Cantarutti and the Australian designer Adam Cornish: Maki is a meeting of fluid lines that create perfect harmony, an invitation to sit and let yourself be enveloped by its sinuous lightness.

Available with metal frame and wooden seat and back. The seat is fully customisable in colours and upholstery, in leather or fabric. Stackable chair and armchair fit naturally into any context. The stool finishes a collection designed to furnish public and private spaces with a recognisable and functional aesthetic.
