DESIGN STUDIOKLASS
CANTARUTTI, ITALY

Flowing and dynamic lines, which bring to mind an old wooden sled, have inspired the concept of the Sprint stool designed by Studio Klass. Tactile and durable, its particular structure combines visual lightness and expressive strength. The front legs bend softly at the base and lead into a continuous extension, to meet the rear legs and serve as a support. The latter are crafted from a single element, curved at the apex, by virtue of the artisanal workmanship. The seat, in shaped plywood, ensures optimal comfort and can also be padded and upholstered in either fabric or leather. Cosy, ergonomic and functional, Sprint is available in two heights, perfect for convivial moments of every day, at home or in public spaces.
